

Montana Conservation Corps members for the past nine years have weatherized homes on the Blackfeet Reservation. Weatherization services were also conducted on Fort Peck, Northern Cheyenne, Crow, Flathead, Fort Belknap and Rocky Boy Reservations.

Montana Conservation Corps members participated in Prairie Dog dusting projects on the Northern Cheyenne and Fort Belknap Reservations.

A Montana State Parks AmeriCorps member has begun a program at Lone Pine State Park focusing on Native American Education of the Flathead Valley.

A FoodCorps member has been teaching American Indian students in the Ronan and Polson school districts about local food and eating healthy. The member also partners with the Salish Kootenai College (SKC) for community events.

A Montana State Parks AmeriCorps member created a "paint your own pictograph" program at Pictograph Cave State Park to teach children about ancient Native American pictographs and their symbolism.

Justice for Montanans members attended the Tribal Court Trial Advocacy Training on issues surrounding domestic violence, human trafficking, child protection, and the duties of a victim specialist on federal Indian lands.

A Justice for Montanans member traveled to the Crow and Northern Cheyenne Reservations to do outreach about family law services available through MLSA.

A Big Sky Watershed Corps member and site supervisor from the Montana Watershed Coordination Council/Montana Association of Conservation Districts visited the Crow Reservation to gain a better understanding of reservation needs related to water.

Six tribal members (Northern Cheyenne, Salish, and Navajo) served on the Bridging Cultures Montana Conservation Corps program last year. The Bridging Cultures Initiative recruits and brings together diverse youth to serve on field crews.

A Montana State Parks AmeriCorps member is serving at Chief Plenty Coup State Park on the Crow Reservation, and will be providing educational programs to local children.

This map highlights some of the activities AmeriCorps State programs are doing on Indian Reservations or with Indian people. Information was compiled by the Governor's Office of Community Service June 2014 and was presented to the Montana Commission on Community Service June 17, 2014